They have no investors and no bank loans. They are like modern day pirates using their own skills, knowledge and market demand to create a new value at no cost to themselves. They get out of debt by putting their products out on the market at a price that no one can match, then they no longer have debt! If you are lucky the product you sell will make more money than you get paid to create it. Everything else is merely optional. "I know this doesn't appear to be a competitive issue, but that's the way it is. We are going to have to live with the decision that we made." The president said he would continue to work to ensure that traditional news outlets survive – but he can't do so if they are further undermined. "I am very engaged and working, frankly, very hard, trying to make sure people have the types of outlets, sources of news that they want," he said. "It's a very tough time for so many people. We'll get through this. I'm optimistic." During a Sunday interview on NBC's "Meet the Press," White House counselor Kellyanne Conway said it was "shortsighted" to make health reform the only issue on the campaign trail. "I think there is an opportunity to talk about all of the issues that impact people's health, that impact people's incomes, and that impact people's education, people's jobs," she said. But in his exclusive interview with NBC's Chuck Todd, Obama said he didn't want to get drawn into a discussion about campaign issues. The president also said on "Meet the Press" that he thinks it is f678ea9f9e
